

A Happy New Year with our thanks

We would like to wish everyone visiting our site, particularly our supporters and people using our services, a very happy, healthy and successful 2010. With the snow now covering a lot of the country, we also wish you all the very warmest of wishes.

Many of you have given generously to our 2009 Christmas Appeal, and we would like to thank you very much. All the money raised will be going directly to help deliver our services across the country through the coming months.

This year, it is going to be even more important to be able to maintain our quality services while we help many people with learning disabilities to take up opportunities and to live more independent lives within their own local communities. Thank you, once more, for helping us provide that support, which can often mean the difference between someone feeling alone and isolated and fulfilling their own individual potential in a safe and happy environment.
